

Is anyone there?

The restless heart that keeps asking.

In short. The Church teaches that the desire for God is written in the human heart, because man is created by God and for God.¹ She also teaches that God can be known with certainty from the created world by the natural light of human reason.²

Key points

- The desire for God is written in the human heart.¹
- The ways to God are converging and convincing arguments, not proofs in the sense of the natural sciences.³
- They start from the physical world and from the human person.³
- There can never be any real discrepancy between faith and reason.⁴

Try this, this week

- 1. Read Acts 17:22–28. Paul speaks to people who did not share his faith, starting from what they already sought.
- 2. Look at something beautiful for five minutes. Ask yourself where beauty comes from.
- 3. Write down your biggest objection. Bring it to a priest or a Catholic friend.
- 4. Read the first page of Augustine's Confessions. It is short, and it is written as a prayer.

“that they should seek the Lord, if perhaps they might reach out for him and find him, though he is not far from each one of us.”

Acts 17:27, World English Bible

Watch out: what this does not mean

- The Church does not claim that reason alone is enough: people experience many difficulties in coming to know God by the light of reason alone.⁵
- Our words about God really attain to God Himself, though they cannot express Him in His infinite simplicity.⁶

Common questions

Can you prove God exists?

Video answer: Ascension Presents, stoneandincense.com/en/questions/can-you-prove-god-exists/

The Church speaks of “converging and convincing arguments”, which allow us to attain certainty about the truth, rather than proofs in the sense of the natural sciences.³ She teaches that God can be known with certainty from the created world by the natural light of human reason.²

Does science make God unnecessary?

Video answer: Bishop Robert Barron, stoneandincense.com/en/questions/does-science-make-god-unnecessary/

The Church teaches that methodical research, carried out in a truly scientific manner and respecting moral laws, can never conflict with the faith, because the things of the world and the things of faith derive from the same God.⁴

Remember: Asking the question honestly is already a beginning.

Sources

- | | |
|-----------|------------|
| 1. CCC 27 | 4. CCC 159 |
| 2. CCC 36 | 5. CCC 37 |
| 3. CCC 31 | 6. CCC 43 |

Quotation above: Acts 17:27, World English Bible. Catechism: official text on vatican.va.

Excerpts from the English translation of the Catechism of the Catholic Church for use in the United States of America © 1994, United States Catholic Conference, Inc. – Libreria Editrice Vaticana. Used with permission. Our plain wording is not an official Church text. Checked 4 October 2026.

Full lesson, video and every source:
stoneandincense.com/go/cul
 You may print and copy this.